Division Review Committee

In October 2001, the University Assessment Committee unanimously approved the creation of Divisional Review Committees (DRCs) to implement the institutional effectiveness assessment process throughout the University of Central Florida. DRC members are typically experienced assessment coordinators from the review group. Each major academic or administrative division determines the composition and length of service for its DRC members.

As of Fall 2019, there are a total of 21 Divisional Review Committees:

- Academic Divisional Review Committees
 - College of Arts and Humanities
 - College of Business Administration
 - College of Community Innovation and Education
 - College of Engineering and Computer Science
 - College of Graduate Studies
 - College of Health Professions and Sciences
 - College of Medicine College
 - College of Nursing
 - College of Optics and Photonics
 - College of Sciences
 - General Education Programs
 - Rosen College of Hospitality Management
 - Teaching and Learning & College of Undergraduate Studies

- Administrative Divisional Review Committees
 - Academic Affairs I (Deans' Offices; Vice Presidents; Academic Program Quality, English Language Institute, Faculty Excellence, Information Technology and Resources, Institutional Knowledge Management, Operational Excellence and Assessment Support, Student Development and Enrollment Services, UCF Connect and UCF Global)
 - Academic Affairs II (Division of Digital Learning, UCF IT and UCF Libraries)
 - Administration and Finance
 - Communications and Marketing
 - Facilities and Safety
 - Office of Research and Commercialization (includes several research centers and related units)
 - President's Division
 - Student Development and Enrollment Services

Divisional Review Committee members:

- Serve faculty and staff as near peer mentors following a collaborative model
- Review and evaluate the quality of program or unit results reports and plans

The Chair of each Divisional Review Committee sits on the University Assessment Committee.
