

Operational Excellence and Assessment Support

Academic Learning Compacts

College of Health and Public Affairs Academic Learning Compacts

Nursing

UCF Nursing graduates will be able to:

Discipline Specific Knowledge, Skills, Behavior and Values Outcomes

1. Synthesize knowledge from nursing and the physical, biological, behavioral, psychological and social sciences, and the humanities in the practice of professional nursing.
2. Demonstrate ability to use the principles of teaching and learning to promote, maintain and restore health and prevent illness with individuals, families and communities.
3. Demonstrate competency in the performance of nursing techniques and skills.
4. Participate as a member of community interdisciplinary teams and partnerships to gather, evaluate and communicate health care needs of individuals, families, and communities in diverse society with particular emphasis on needs of vulnerable populations.
5. Apply innovative technologies in meeting the health care needs of individuals, families, and communities
6. Incorporate ethical, cultural, and legal principles as professional values in the practice of professional nursing.
7. Participate in efforts to influence health systems policy on behalf of patients and the profession.
8. Apply theories and principles of leadership and management to collaborate with interdisciplinary teams to promote and maintain quality health care for individuals, families, and communities.
9. Assume responsibility for lifelong learning and plan for professional career development.

Critical Thinking Outcomes

10. Demonstrate ability to evaluate and use research in the exploration of health problems and the implementation of evidence based practice.
11. Participate as a member of community interdisciplinary teams and partnerships to gather, evaluate and communicate health care needs of individuals, families, and communities in diverse society with particular emphasis on needs of vulnerable populations.
12. Use analytical thinking as the basis for professional nursing practice.

Communication Outcomes

13. Participate as a member of community interdisciplinary teams and partnerships to gather, evaluate and communicate health care needs of individuals, families, and communities in diverse society with particular emphasis on needs of vulnerable populations.
14. Demonstrate effective verbal, written, and electronic communication in the promotion of culturally appropriate care.

Assessment of Nursing Outcomes

These outcomes will be assessed using a variety of assessment methods, including:

- exams
- teaching projects
- clinical experiences
- client evaluations
- interviews
- community assessment
- logs of clinical experiences